HOW CAN WE ASSIST?

A Metropolitan Family Services Job Developer will work with you to identify qualifying job seekers that meet your hiring needs and save you time and expenditures during periods of high turn-over or periods of elevated seasonal demand. Working directly with program participants and employer partners alike, our Job Developers work to create and cultivate long-term employer relationships for opportunities in high-demand and growth industries. Job Developers also strive to provide employer partners with connections to valuable business solutions such as small business workshops, customized training opportunities, City of Chicago and State of Illinois business resources, employer tax credit information, and conditional employee wage subsidies.

ABOUT US

Metropolitan Family Services Calumet Center has been serving families on Chicago's far south side since 1955. Its economic development programs range from youth leadership, education, employment and violence intervention to adult employment, transitional jobs, and financial literacy. Metropolitan Calumet has workforce development programming at its main location, Kennedy-King College, Altgeld Gardens/Murray Homes, Lowden Homes and Trumbull Park. It is part of Metropolitan Family Services, which has been empowering Chicago-area families to reach their greatest potential and positively impact their communities since 1857.
